Mom mom where do I begin? Growing up you were always there. I lived at your house. I was your side kick. You loved us grandkids more than we would ever know. It breaks my heart knowing that you are gone. It kills me knowing that I wont get another phone call from you. Im so sorry, If I had known that Friday afternoon would have been the last time I got to see you or tell you I love you, I would have got out of the car to hug you one last time! You will forever be a big piece of my heart. You taught me so much growing up! Just know that even though I couldnt say goodbye up to your casket, I was there. And I love you so very much! I will miss your smile, your laugh, your mac and cheese. No one will ever be able to make it like you can. Sunday breakfasts growing up....stealing the brick cheese that we would put in the scrambled eggs. Life wont be the same without you. Fly High beautiful!
