“ I want to offer my condolences to the Joseph family. It is a painful thing to lose a love one in death_ even more so when one is so young. So painful death is that even Jesus, when Lazarus died, "gave way to tears"(John 11: 35). It pains our Creator, too, and he has promised to bring our love one back to life at Isaiah 26:19 "Your dead will rise ...Awake and shout a joyfully you residents in the dust! ...the earth will let those powerless in death come to life" then "he will swallow up death forever ..." (Isaiah 25:8). I hope these words give you comfort.

“ I worked with Elizabeth at the MD Food Bank. She was smart and quick to organize the work at hand. When she came to work I never had to worry... everything was always completed above and beyond. She was quick to volunteer to help others. We would laugh about silly things and talk about life's trials. She would often reassure me that everything was going to be alright. I always hoped the same for her. And now it is..... ♡

“ We watched Liz grow from a little baby to a young lady with three babies. She left this life before she realized her true potential. She will be missed by all that knew her. I am praying for Chris and Robert and all family. God took another Angel to cradle and protect.

“Where do I even begin... Liz was like a little sister. She was always there to make me laugh throughout all my shenanigans with Chris. She also kept us grounded in a way no kid should have to. She was mature beyond her years. Stood firmly for what she believed & never backed down from a fight. I am beyond sad. I am lost. I know firsthand what you went through as an addict because I fight the same demons daily. I will fight even harder now for you Liz. This is not how your story was supposed to end! I pray that you're in a better place & that you're resting in the arms of Jesus! I love you Liz! You will never be forgotten

Love,
Big sis Amy
