“ I can't tell anyone who knew mike just how great of a man he was because they already know. I can share countless memories. One of my favorite is the day I walked over "we were neighbors" to ask for help doing some welding on my truck. I was young and dumb and was in over my head. He taught me so much. Well the next morning he walks over into the garage to help me work on it.... he had taken off work to help a young kid compete a project that most would have never even considered helping with. His schedule and my work schedules conflicted. He spent the entire day with me welding away. He will be missed by so many. He was truly like a second father to me.

“ While I didn't know Mr. Cook personally, as his grand daughter's band director, I witnessed his “Mr. Fix It” claim to fame. We had a prop break on competition day, and without hesitation, he arrived and fixed the prop and made it sturdier than before!

It might only be six inches of metal, but his memory will physically be represented in the WiHi Band program for many years to come.

“ I met Micheal many years ago at VI. Our paths crossed again while I worked in medical. For the last ten years or so, that's where we saw each other, medical visits. Thanks to social media, we never lost touch. I always told him he was great medicine in every waiting room. His kind ways and quick wit put you at immediate ease. His love of life and family and friends never let him quit. Even on a bad day he created happiness with those around him. I will miss you, my sweet friend. You made a nice place in your life for everyone. We are all better for having known by you. RIP Mike. I will always be proud to call you my friend. Love ya Mike! Tammy Parsons
